Western Red Cedar:

The choice of architects and builders everywhere

Western Red Cedar is a unique and prestigious softwood with outstanding physical characteristics. It offers a rare combination of aesthetic appeal and durability without chemicals, thanks to its natural decay-resistant composition. Western Red Cedar's superior dimensional stability means project components are likely to stay straight, lay flat and resist warping and cupping season after season. In addition, cedar is easy to cut, saw and nail with common tools, and readily accepts finishes.

 CEDARONE from Weyerhaeuser represents the finest, most consistent quality of Western Red Cedar available today. As the world's largest manufacturer and distributor of western red cedar, Weyerhaeuser manages CEDARONE products from the forest floor to the marketplace. All CEDARONE materials are manufactured by experienced staff and supported by dedicated sales and technical experts, ensuring premium products and reliable service for our discriminating customers.
